

Christian Steinkühler:

PhD, co-founder of Exiris and CEO of the company. He studied Biochemistry at the University of Tübingen (1981-1988). Doctoral Thesis at the Institute of Chemistry and Pharmacy of the University of Tübingen (1988-1991). Post doc at the University of Rome (1991-1993). He joins Merck Research Laboratories in 1993 where he was Project Director Oncology, Chair of Early Development Team and member of the Oncology Corporate Licensing Committee. He contributed to several preclinical projects in the areas of virology and oncology, the development of one launched oncology drug and clinical stage oncology projects. He is co-author of more than 90 publications in journals such as Nature Medicine, Nature Cell Biology and PNAS and co-inventor of 12 patents or patent applications.